BURNABY, Oct. (CP)—A that he was not satisfied with foul investigation into the hospital conditions at the prison death of Dalton Leroy Sanger, who he said he had drawn these conditions demanded today by a coroner's jury at the inquest into the death of Dalton Leroy Sanger.

The jury found that Sanger, a 60-year-old Vertical man awaiting trial on a charge of murder died of a heart condition after he had arrived at the prison.

Warden J. H. Millman, brought back from his holidays to testify, was questioned for 20 minutes today.

He said he had not been notified that Sanger was ill. The jury demanded today by a coroner's jury that the attention of the department charged with responsibility of the prison Lower Mainlimes in the past few years.

In a statement in Victoria yesterday, Attorney-General Wismer said full consideration would be given recommendations of the coroner's jury. He said he would see recommendations of the jury, formulated only yesterday, but would give them full consideration.

Easier Loan Terms Announced To Boost House Construction

OTTAWA, Oct. 6 (CP)—The Government today announced easier loan terms in order to finance for ordinary house and apartment building in Canada and steps to encourage provision of homes for defence workers in selected defence areas.

Resources Minister Winters said the Government intends with improvement in the materials supply position, to place special emphasis" on homes for defence workers and give other builders an opportunity to build in the limit of capacity.

He announced Central Mortgage and Housing shortly will:

1. Boost National Housing Act loans to 80 per cent on a revised maximum sales price for ordinary civilian homes. At present the maximum loan is 80 per cent of the appraised value based on January, 1950.

2. Provide housing loans for defense workers in specified areas on the basis of a down payment of 10 per cent with 25 years to pay off the remainder. This is a new provision under the National Housing Act.

3. Reinstitute the rental assurance plan under which a builder can obtain an 80 per cent loan for multiple dwellings of not less than eight units if he agrees to fixed rentals for each unit for three years. This feature of the act has been dormant for some time.

WILL GIVE DETAILS

Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation shortly will issue details of the new financing plan.

A spokesman said that in the case of civilian housing, the new regulations would make possible a larger loan since the load would be based on an appraisal more current than the one as appraisal based on 1950 values.

Reinstitution of the rental assurance plan is expected to prove a big boost for multiple dwelling construction such as apartment blocks. At present loans for such projects also are based on 1950 values but the builder may charge whatever rent he can get.

Women Urge Subsidies To Cut Milk Prices

VANCOUVER, Oct. 5 (CP)—Government subsidies to aid dairymen were urged today before the provincial milk board.

Representatives of two women's organizations advocated subsidies so that farmers may receive prices for their milk without an increase in the delivery price to consumers.

Mrs. Hilda Scott, secretary of the cost-of-living condemned which would be prevented by legislation, including trade unions, food and consumers. women sharply opposed an increase in the consumer cost of milk.

Milk already is almost in the luxury class, she said. "If the price increases there will be decreasing sales and you will antions have your answer to milk problems."

Mrs. Agnes Jackson, speaking for the Congress of Canadian Women, said that if government subsidies were not possible, the board should look for spread between the farm price and consumer price.

Other speakers opposed any suggestion that the milk board be abolished.

Canadians Score Gains With Brigade Team

TOKYO, Oct. 5 (CP)—Canadians, Britons and Australians made a three-mile gain today in their battle with Communists holding ridge-line positions on Korea's western front.

They stormed forward behind tanks and under an artillery barrage with allied aircraft pouring high explosive and jellied gasoline on the Reds holding out in a string of forest-clad hills protecting the Reds' main western front defense system.

By nightfall, the Commonwealth division had attained all but two of the main objectives.

Most of the Canadians reached their objectives with hardly more than scattered skirmishes. But one company of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry fought a two-hour battle with mortars and machine guns before dispersing a Chinese rearguard from a hill.

The other Canadian battalion mustered in front line dispatches as taking part in the fight was that of the Royal Canadian Regiment.

The Commonwealth men have seized large stocks of weapons, ammunition and clothing much of it of almost brand new.

"I am well satisfied with the performance of the division. It has worked magnificently. I have a fine Empire team which is proving the value of this new concept of Commonwealth co-operation on the battlefield."

The Australians and the Royal Northumberland Fusiliers led the division assault today. The Australians ascertained in the crest at a 1,000-foot wooded hill after a bayonet attack just before dusk.

This climaxed a 10-hour battle along a three-mile-long ridge line studded with Chinese bunkers and entrenchments and under heavy mortar fire.

The city will argue that subscribers should not be forced to pay the company's taxes.

ALLABOARD

"I believe there is a law against unnecessary sounding of automobile horns in the city," writes H. P. Ellis, a patient in the hospital last month. The law should include the hospital zone, he thinks.

Police patrol cars and ambulances make too much noise, he thinks. "To have these [illegible] at all instances with most [illegible]."

"The departure of the ambulance is [illegible] preceded by long and loud talking, slamming doors and a final [illegible] of the engine." Horn-tooting [illegible] and people who leave noisy children to play under hospital windows should be more thoughtful, he thinks.

But perhaps things have changed since Mr. Ellis wrote. I know there is an order stipulating that sirens must be turned off near the hospital.

Paul G. Koop, 945 Terrace Avenue, agrees that a government sweepstake would be a good thing. "I believe you voice the opinion of a large majority of people in B.C., but alas we are governed by a clique of bureaucratic flimps."

* * *

Mr. Koop favors the English automatic signal for cars. "It is the best of its kind bar none. Clear, understandable, convenient and illuminated for night driving, yet there are thousands of people breaking the law every day by using this excellent device."

Why are they illegal? "I am told the reason is that a following car in the middle of the road may not see a right turn signal, but I ask who wants to see a right hand signal from that position? At any rate, it is far better than many hand signals today which are often quite incomprehensible, and neither hand nor truck signals are visible at night."

"Like mine, your opinions are with the underdog. Socialism would be the answer if you could change men's hearts, and if they would do for others what they would do for themselves. As we are, [illegible] need the goad of competition.

"Read the prophecy of the Socialists in England before performance and read the latest figures for results. What have the leaders of the C.C.F. accomplished personally in life apart from talk? What has Winch done to prove great ability to direct great enterprises?"

My correspondent apparently misunderstood something I wrote. I didn't speak either for or against the C.C.F. as I was careful to point out. I merely said that all parties are socialist to some degree and that politicians who draw a sharp line between "free enterprise" and "socialism" are not telling the truth.

To do the C.C.F. justice, I doubt if they are foolish enough to try to abolish competition. They propose to continue rewards for merit and effort, but in a somewhat different form. As for C.C.F. leaders accomplishing anything, the voters have not chosen to let them try so far.

"You can't change human nature, or men's hearts," is of course a meaningless utterance. Motives vary from one individual to another. Sometimes the motives of large numbers of individuals have been changed by a powerful appeal. One such appeal was issued by Jesus Christ.

"Many people are still unaware that for nearly 100 years society has been moving from individualist control to some form of socialist control," writes George F. Surling, 627 Toronto Street. "Today it is becoming more clear that our survival depends upon some form of 'world control.'"

Whether we like it or not, and in some ways the trend seems highly unpleasant, this is a fact.

Indonesia Places Ban On Diplomat's Re-Entry

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Oct. 5 (CP). The Indonesian government is barring Dr. Hugh L. Keenleyside, senior Canadian United Nations official, from re-entering the country because of his rebuff to a former Nazi big-shot.

In one of the developments following Keenleyside's refusal to shake hands with Hjalmar Schacht at a reception in the Canadian's [illegible] night, an Indonesian government official said today Keenleyside will not be allowed to return to Indonesia.

The Indonesian finance minister, Yusuf Wibisono, said Keenleyside, who left for Manila Thursday, had insulted an official guest of the government.

The 53-year-old Keenleyside is touring the southeast Asian countries as director-general of the U.N. Technical Assistance Administration. Schacht, who helped Hitler juggle German finances to build a vast war machine, is here to advise the Indonesian government on fiscal reforms.

Another development today was the announcement by Sir Mirza Ismail, the Technical Assistance Administration's resident representative here, that he is quitting his job and will return to India because of his boss' insult to Schacht.

CALLS ACTION DESPICABLE

Ismail, who gave the reception, said "despicable" was the word for Keenleyside's action.

Keenleyside, former Canadian deputy minister of mines and natural resources, said Wednesday night he did not think a U.N. official should fraternize socially with a man who represented something the U.N. was established to oppose.

When Keenleyside was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Schacht he accepted Mrs. Schacht's hand but withdrew from Schacht with the remark: "I cannot shake hands with a man having such a record."

Afterwards the Canadian said he was familiar with Schacht's wartime record and even though Schacht had eventually fallen out with Hitler, there was no excuse for his active collaboration while the Nazis were committing atrocities.

Hew Straight Line, Scientists Warned

MONTREAL, Oct. 5 (CP). Canada's leading military scientist tonight advised his fellow scientists to stick to their own subjects and not sound off with naive and ill-informed opinions on things about which they know little.

Dr. O. M. Solandt, head of the Defense Research Board, also advised them to follow the professional lead of the doctor rather than the trade unionist in trying to better their economic position.

In a speech prepared for delivery to a McGill University dinner, Dr. Solandt said the last war brought pure scientists out of their laboratories and ivory towers and showed them they were "exceedingly competent in dealing with applied problems in their own fields."

"Unfortunately in some cases this success led both the public and the individual scientist to assume that scientists were omniscient. During the last five years we have seen far too many examples of scientists straying from their fields and making ill-informed and often naive statements on subjects about which they knew very little."

"The research scientist like the physician has, as his stock in trade, a body of knowledge which does not belong to him or to any company or even to any nation but which is part of the heritage of mankind."

Latest Toll, Two in Korea

OTTAWA, Oct. 5 (CP)—The army today issued its 59th casualty list of the Korean war, reporting two men killed in action and one officer and six men wounded. Both men killed were from Eastern Canada.

All were members of the Royal Canadian Infantry Corps.

The list brought to 294 the number of Canadian casualties so far suffered by Canadian troops in Korean action, including 69 dead, 203 wounded, 21 injured in action and one missing.

Royal Visit Preparations In Last-Minute Flurry

LONDON, Oct. 5 (Reuters).—A last-minute flurry descended on Clarence House today as Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip made final arrangements to take off Monday (6.30 p.m. E.S.T. Sunday) for their Canadian tour.

They read through a sheaf of bon-voyage messages, directed the packing of luggage and saw it sent off to London airport, and took time out to greet their two [illegible] land early today.

One all-important item was not overlooked. Early in the day the couple went to a store in fashionable Regent Street and picked out a present for Prince Charles' birthday. What it is will remain a secret until his birthday. He will be three Nov. 14, three days before his parents return from Canada.

The activity extended to Buckingham Palace, where airline officials conferred with men from the civil aviation department about exact timing and location of the 60-seat Stratocruiser which will fly the couple and their staff of eight to Montreal early Monday.

Things were more hectic at London airport itself, where every movement was rehearsed in detail. The plane was not yet at the airport but another was used as a dummy.

Efficiency experts scurried back and forth marking off the spots where the various dignitaries will stand to see the Royal couple off. Others drew chalk marks where the Royal car and baggage truck from the palace will stop and where the red carpet will be unrolled.

One of the sidelights of the tour—Elizabeth's wardrobe—is one item well under control. Designers started working last July as soon as it was known she would be making the trip.

What they have come up with no one knows, for palace fashions are as closely guarded as military secrets. One source hazarded the opinion that green, grey and brown would be the predominant shades.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (AP). [illegible] Wilson today announced the abandonment, for the time being, of studies on the removal of Aluminum production lines from the Pacific Northwest.

Top Brass Plan Defense Trips

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5 (INS)—Three top ranking government officials announced today week-end trips to Europe to aid the drive to bolster Western Europe's defenses.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, will leave Sunday, to confer with Gen. Eisenhower and pave the way for inclusion of Greece and Turkey in the North Atlantic Pact.

W. Averell Harriman, special presidential foreign affairs adviser, will leave Saturday afternoon for Paris where he will explore the ability of Western European nations to produce defense materials.

Navy secretary Kimball will also leave Saturday for a general European tour and conferences with military leaders.

In addition, Gen. Collins, army chief of staff, has already departed for an inspection trip through Europe and the Far East.

Bradley, just returned from the Korean front lines, said he will offer Greek and Turkish military leaders "full participation with equal rights" in the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

[illegible] fly to Athens and Istanbul to discuss participation in Allied military defenses with Greek and Turkish leaders.

Bradley said he would draw up a paper to be approved by the governing bodies of the NATO countries in order to permit Greece and Turkey to take part in the treaty set up.

The White House said that Harriman will be U.S. representative at a NATO meeting to ex[illegible] Western Europe.

Flat Rejection Urged

Big Three Peace Plan Under Fire of Socialists

BONN, Oct. 5 (INS). West German socialist opposition leader Kurt Schumacher bitterly criticized the United States tonight and called on Germans to reject the big three "peace contract" plan.

The United States, he said in a west German radio network broadcast, is pursuing "an anti-European nationalism and supporting French egotism at Germany's expense."

Schumacher urged "careful examination" instead of a "flat rejection" of the east German Communist regime's bid for German unity. He supported Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's 14-point plan for guaranteeing free all-German elections.

Before Schumacher spoke, Adenauer's Bonn government sent notes to the Soviet control commission in Berlin and to the United Nations expressing hope for such free elections under U.N. supervision.

The note, handed to British High Commissioner Sir Ivone Kirkpatrick for relay to the U.N. is the first direct west German communication to the peace organization.

The Russian-created east German regime previously has rejected the idea of all-German elections except on Communist terms. But it has suggested east-west German talks on "unity" in an effort to obstruct the projected west German-west allied "peace contract" plan.

The United States, Britain and France agreed on a plan to give West Germans virtual sovereignty in exchange for German contribution to allied defenses. But the allies would retain certain controls.

The timing of Schumacher's vigorous speech threatens to nullify what little progress the allies made with Adenauer in discussions earlier this week.

Oddities

MODESTO, Calif., Oct. 5 (AP)—Police today admit they were "used" in getting a rubber check passed.

Chief Urhane Pickering said a man identifying himself as Robert Chinn came in the station Monday night with a tale of being robbed of his car and cash.

Later, the man appeared at a restaurant and cashed a $50 personal check after the proprietor checked on his plight and identity with police.

The check bounced, the auto license number was a phony, and no one named Robert Chinn lives at the address the man furnished.

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y., Oct. 5 (AP).—New Rochelle is fattening the calf so that a Delaware schoolmaster may have his pound of flesh under a 272-year-old agreement.

Mayor Stanley Church reported today the calf will be given to Walden Pell of Middletown, Del.

Pell claims the calf under an agreement in 1680 when Sir John Pell sold the land that is now New Rochelle to one Jacob Leisler.

The agreement said:

"Jacob Leisler and his heirs and assigns agree to yield and to pay unto said John Pell and his heirs and assigns . . . one fatta calfe (sic) on every four and twentieth day of June yearly and each year forever—if demanded."

Pell identified himself as a direct descendant of Sir Robert.

Mayor Church said it is the first time in 272 years that the request has been made.

A Challenging Example

THE DECORATION of Private Wayne R. Mitchell, 21, of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, who stayed in action in Korea although twice wounded until his comrades were safe from an enemy attack which he helped in large measure to beat off, sets before this country a challenging example of personal conduct. Private Mitchell won the D.C.M., four comrades received the M.M., while 11 officers and men in the Canadian brigade were mentioned in dispatches as a result of courage, resourcefulness and determination shown under fire.

Private Mitchell's example, however, highlights the whole matter. Though bleeding from fresh wounds, he would not quit. There was a job to be done, and he stayed with it until it was finished. Contrast the action of this Korean veteran, who nominally receives less than $2 a day at the imminent risk of his life—to say nothing of his youth and all home ties—with those in this land who down tools on defense contracts with demands of $2 an hour and up before they will return to work.

The contrast is sharper than that. It calls into question the attitude of all those in this land who seek to make a "killing" out of the very circumstances which have taken Private Mitchell and thousands of other Canadians overseas to fight in defense of our freedom. There is no cost-of-living bonus in Korea. There is no floor or ceiling "price." There is no 40-hour week, interim increase or government-protected tariff. There is no fortune to be made, but every chance of life being lost by those to whom it is so new and precious. The hand that would refuse these warriors the tools, increase the burden on their homes or fail to sustain them in the field by every sacrifice that is possible is not earning the freedom that these men are securing if need be with their lives.

If Canada is to remain free in fact as well as in aim there will have to be a change of heart in a good many people. With sharing-the-wealth must be coupled some sharing of the responsibilities. For the guarantee of an inviolate border there must be an honest return in true and responsible citizenship at every level and in every home. Only then will we be able to look our Private Mitchells in the eye when they return home, to the land that will be theirs by right before it can be anyone else's.

"I also do trick shots."

Public Interest Comes First

SOMETHING appears to be wrong somewhere if a question of ethics within a circle of professional men can result in the withholding of services required by a public undertaking, as has occurred in the matter of an engineering survey of Victoria's Memorial Arena. If the circumstances are as represented to the arena commission, then its legal member, Mr. H. W. Davey, K.C., had good reason for his comment that the Association of Professional Engineers of British Columbia was ignoring a paramount question of public interest.

The situation has arisen through the city council's recent repudiation of a supplementary account tendered by Mr. C. T. Hamilton for services in his former capacity as consulting engineer for the construction of the arena. It is now open to Mr. Hamilton to sue for the fees he claims are owing, and if he does so the city's defense presumably would be based on an allegation of failure to fulfill contractual obligations, a line of defense needing expert testimony. The city has entered into an arrangement with a firm of engineers in Vancouver to make a survey of the building. That firm, however, has declined to begin the survey meantime, relying on a by-law of the engineers' association which forbids one of its members to examine works in respect of which money is claimed to be owing to another.

The firm hired by the city undoubtedly is in a difficult position, since according to Mr. Davey it would lay itself open to disciplinary action by the association for unprofessional conduct if it ignored the ruling on ethics contained in the by-law. There is a much broader question of ethics involved here, however. It would be a serious matter if the internal code of a professional group were allowed to react to the detriment of the public by putting essential services out of reach.

The city is wise in deciding to take its protest directly to the association. We feel sure that once the association is shown the impossible situation in which the city has been placed it will agree to waive the by-law.

The Attrition Goes On

THE ISSUE of the 58th Canadian casualty list of the Korean war is a reminder of the steady attrition that goes on despite the limited nature of recent field action. The Canadian force has now suffered nearly 300 casualties, a fairly substantial figure in view of the restricted scope of the U.N. army's operations.

Patience is a virtue and obviously every effort is being made to induce the Communists to resume the hitherto abortive armistice talks. General Ridgway has now invited the enemy to choose a site in no-man's land free of the environment represented by Kaesong, which is inside the Communist lines. Whether this further attempt to woo the Communists will succeed remains to be seen. There is little now to suggest that sincerity was behind the initial hint thrown out by Mr. Gromyko which led to the hair-splitting cease-fire talks that have already taken place.

The Korean war has been going on for 16 months, without tangible prospect of Allied victory. The enemy has been pushed back out of South Korea, so that the immediate objective of liberation has been attained, but high-level uncertainty about how far and how strongly the U.N. campaign should be pressed has put wraps on the men in the field. The wisdom of perpetuating a stalemate must one of these days be open to question and a choice made inevitable between going all out for final victory or condemning U.N. troops to a role inconsistent with the practice of war.

As the latest Canadian casualty list indicates, a half-scale campaign is no guarantee of conservation. In the long run a policy that invites steady attrition might easily be more costly than one which employs maximum military resources in powerful and sustained offensives specifically designed to end the war. A change in tactics might even bring the Communists to book. In any event there is the disquieting thought that at its present pace the Korean war seems as though it might go on for ever.

COMMUNITY CHEST

Sir,—The relative failure of the chest drive is of concern to all. Apart from average people being harder up than last year, what are some of the reasons for this failure?

First, many are in doubt as to where all the money goes. We might as well admit it, as it is so. How many salaried officials has the chest; what are their names and salaries? How much does advertising cost? How much is donated? Who decides who is to get help? Also what sums do the different organizations receive? What percentage goes to really needy cases?

If these and other questions were publicly answered, many feel the response would have been better.

This is not meant in any critical way of anyone in the chest drive, but quite possibly officials may not even know of these troublesome, yet general thoughts.

PRICE OF MILK

Sir,—Because of the conflicting reports regarding the price of milk, and the reasons why the producers are seeking a further increase, I wish to make the following statement.

Our application to the Milk Board asked for $6.72 per can of 3.5% milk. This allowed for feed and labor only. Nothing was asked for taxes, repairs, interest on investment, light and power, etc. Since then hay has increased in price again. Despite this the Milk Board refused our request and gave us only $5.90 per can. As it was impossible to continue at this price we rejected the order and asked the board to reconsider. The board, without stating any reasons, refused to change the order and we appealed to the cabinet. They gave us a very sympathetic hearing and we hope for an adjustment. In the meantime meetings are being called in all areas to make further plans. We regret the increase in price to consumers, but unless we receive the cost of production we cannot stay in business.

STRIKERS' WIVES

Sir,—It has always seemed to me little short of amazing the smoothness with which a strike is engineered. Everyone knows, of course, the disruption and possibly hardship that is wrought in the family life. It is bad enough to be released from a job let alone to cast oneself adrift deliberately. When a vote is called is there a preponderance of single men to out-vote the married men, who have so many more responsibilities? What voice have married women in the strike vote? Women have long since been given the legal right to give their opinion through the ballot in the election of federal, provincial and municipal officers. How much more are they entitled to speak plainly and decisively when their own family life is involved.

So I suggest the time has come for married women to cast their strike vote as co-partners of the men themselves. It may be, of course, that with so many married women working away from the homes it gives their menfolk a chance to strike without the restraining worry of their dependents. But this would hardly seem to hold good when there are children to be considered. Certainly a married woman with children should have wider authority in deciding a vote than childless married women.

Looking Ahead

By FRANK KELLEY

IT was announced over the air a few days ago that a huge refinery was about to begin the annual processing of some 6,500,000 tons of crude oil, turning all that tonnage into liquid gold, as modern alchemists responsible for the transmutation have named the commodity for a long time now. It was further stated that the site of this refinery was on Southampton Water, close to the famed British seaport of the same name.

The whole story told of how the Standard Oil Company had planned and erected the plant, applying streamlined techniques to construction of the several units, and will follow time-tested practices developing these economically, the whole being a co-operative arrangement between government, British interests and the operators. With the exception of some top technicians, the bulk of employees will be Old Country workers.

* * *

Estimated to cost $100,000,000 by the time the last unit is completed, the project will definitely expand the usefulness of the British port in handling arrivals and departures of the legion number of tankers required to transport the great tonnage of crude oil to be refined, as well as to find facilities for docking and servicing the many types of commercial craft trafficking in oil and its by-products.

All this would make it seem as if some "lookers-ahead" in Britain and the United States had been anticipating just what has happened in connection with Near East oil production and the dangers attending investments in certain states, and, exercising a bit of foresight had made some concrete preparations to meet such situations as have been engineered in Iran.

* * *

Evidently the idea of now refining oil at long distances from some of its sources is going to spread some, too; for, elaborating, the radio story indicated that other refineries are contemplated in the near future at other localities in the British Isles and in somewhat lesser degrees at ports of continental Europe.

One gathered, listening to the details, that the establishment of the big refinery near Southampton—Topley I believe is the exact spot—had the blessing of United States authority, fitting in, as it undoubtedly will, with overall plans for a united defense of Western Europe, crippled to some extent by what has transpired in connection with the British-financed and owned plant at Abadan, where anything can happen.

Just one more manifestation of extensive efforts, either already effected or in the process of being consummated, it could be that even closer relationship between the North American continent and Western Europe may result from the current trends of "tides in the affairs of men." The suggestion made by Herbert Morrison at Ottawa recently was timely.

* * *

The British foreign secretary in an interview preceding the meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization voiced the hope that Western Europe, the United States and the partners forming the British Commonwealth would get together in an alliance of more than temporary character—"for keeps." in fact, going along together to bring about the peace millions of folks yearn for and would welcome wholeheartedly.

From all accounts Britain, champion of freedom-loving folk in two terrible wars, is helping herself grow strong again with the aid of North America. In all the circumstances that help should be generous; for the record reveals, and in our own time, too, that the British people made it possible for democracy to survive.

Gerald Waring

Reporting From Ottawa

STRATEGIC defense materials like steel, copper and aluminum will continue to flow from the United States into Canada in their usual quantities under the Americans' tightened controlled materials plan, but from now on we'll have to convince Washington that our needs are as great as theirs.

That's how top officials of the department of defense production sum up the anticipated effect on Canada of the American program to increase restrictions on the distribution and use of scarce materials.

Take for example, the effect of CMP on our all-important purchase of some 25 per cent of our steel from the U.S. CMP has now brought steel distribution in the U.S. under complete control, in place of the former method and the method still used in Canada of skimming off defense and preparedness steel needs and leaving the rest to be distributed by the manufacturers on a quota basis.

Now as of Monday when CMP became fully operative, all U.S. steel is to be allocated right down to end use. That includes allocation for export to Canada, and means we must now apply to Washington for our quota, and convince Washington that we really need the steel and aren't wasting steel on non-essential projects.

* * *

Officials here expect we will get "fair treatment"—meaning no cut in the quantity we can have—but we're still going to be far short of steel for our normal non-defense requirements. How much is anybody's guess, although several months ago Production Minister Howe estimated we could use an extra 1,500,000 tons this year if we could get it.

So far the construction industry has been hardest hit by the steel shortage. People who want to build a wide range of structures such as office buildings, theatres and hotels are out of luck, because a government order bans such uses of steel.

But there are many other projects, particularly those planned by companies to expand their productive capacities, which are not banned. However, due to the steel shortage they are either being postponed or are proceeding with the use of higher priced steel imported from overseas.

While there are no signs yet that Ottawa plans to match Washington's new down-the-line controls on steel, it is true that henceforth Ottawa must direct all imported American steel right down to end use. With the end of the American "free market" in steel, Canadian steel users no longer will be able to buy steel in the States when and where and as best they can. Thus the shortage is closing in on them.

* * *

So far there hasn't been any scarcity of durable goods in this country, despite the fact that such goods aren't being produced at the rate they were a year or even six months ago.

However, it seems to be generally true that factors other than the steel shortage have caused the production cutbacks. One is credit restrictions. Another is inflation, which forces the average consumer to devote a larger portion of his income to the necessities of life. And a third is near satiation of demand for many commodities as a result of heavy production and sales in the last two or three years.

While these factors continue to restrain demand, you and I aren't going to feel the effects of the steel shortage very much. But it will still be there and without much possibility for improvement in the near future.

Two-Way Traffic

From The Financial Post

FOR the first time in 25 years Canadian tourist spending in other countries may equal or exceed foreign tourist spending here. That's the way it looks for 1951 says an Ottawa official.

If that proves true and the main season is over now, then our hopes are dashed of the tourist business bringing us in a nice bundle of surplus American dollars. In some optimistic quarters, indeed, it was estimated that we could soon build up a trade that would net us at least $100,000,000 annually.

What has been overlooked, of course, has been the huge increase in Canadian foreign travel, up over a third for the first half of this year as compared with the same period in 1950. A few years ago, for every dollar the foreign tourist spent in Canada, only about 30 cents was spent by Canadian tourists in the United States and other places. Now we are spending dollar for dollar.

We haven't been making the progress we expected. This year, it is true, the number of visitors is up, but spending is down. This means shorter stays in Canada. For a country as big and roomy as ours and so close to big U.S. centres of population, that is not good enough.

We should be attracting many thousands more of free spending Americans each year. But we won't do this by trying to pretend that Canada is a cheap imitation of the United States. As Resources Minister Winters puts it, "Americans don't come here expecting to feel at home. What they want is to feel away from home."

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

While Visiting Britain

THE constant awareness of their own rights and dignity which characterizes most Englishmen, whatever their status in the community, seems in a great many of them to extend to their dogs. A dog has his rights too, and certainly a lot more dignity than most of us acknowledge in our dogs in Canada. That comes of a humorous feeling that enters into an Englishman's or woman's affection for the animal.

You never see those sniffy looks on anybody in a bus in London when a passenger boards carrying or leading a dog. On the streets, in the parks, every dog attracts a kindly glance and often a whistle from all and sundry. As the result of this, practically all the dogs in this great city are well trained and dignified. It may be this that creates the humor of them. You may have been given that frosty stare by a cocker spaniel, a setter or a poodle? Yet in London if you presume to whistle and snap your fingers to a cocker in the park, he draws himself up, with nary a wag of his tail, stares at you and huffs, "I beg your pardon. Have we met?"

* * *

A dog in Britain that has caught my eye these past few weeks is the poodle. It comes in several sizes, including a miniature, and is generally bluey black, though you frequently see browns and greys. Most of them are not trimmed in that extreme French fashion, but clipped a little around the ankles, waist and head. So clipped, they have a fantastically delicate way of putting down and lifting their feet, so that they seem to be barely touching the ground as they go, head high, very dainty. All I have seen and watched appeared to be exceptionally intelligent, quiet but alert dogs, magnificently suited to city life.

The Bond Of Royalty

From The Seattle Post-Intelligencer

OF course, we don't have kings and queens, princes or princesses in the United States.

Nevertheless, or possibly because of that very fact, there is something about royalty that appeals to the average American's imagination.

And, although our forbears had a falling out with one of their ancestors, we have a particularly high regard for the members of the British Royal family.

* * *

All Americans are relieved, therefore, to learn that King George VI is convalescing so satisfactorily from his recent operation that his daughter, Princess Elizabeth, will be able to go through with her visit to Canada and the United States only a little later than originally planned.

In the first place we all admire the frail but earnest man who has striven so conscientiously to carry out his duties as constitutional monarch of the British Commonwealth during one of the most difficult periods in history.

And Americans have followed the career of the young woman who will one day occupy the English throne with a degree of interest which cannot be explained entirely by the fact that we are so closely akin to the people who will ultimately give her their allegiance.

* * *

In addition to these factors, the forthcoming royal tour will have a special significance to residents of the Pacific Northwest as it will bring the Princess and her husband, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, almost within shouting distance of Seattle.

Many Seattle people went to Victoria and Vancouver 12 years ago to join in the welcome to the Princess' parents when they visited the west coast, and no doubt many will go there this month to get a glimpse of the heir presumptive.

It is safe to predict that she will charm them as completely as her mother did the American excursionists in 1939. Thus the royal visit cannot fail to strengthen the strong bond of friendship which we have enjoyed so long with our Canadian neighbors.

With the Classics

From "The Choristers"

The tiny warblers fill Summer trees
With their exquisite lesser litanies;
The tanager in his scarlet coat
In the hemlock pours from a vibrant throat
His canticle of the sun.
The loon on the lake, the hawk in the sky,
And seagull each has a piercing cry,
Like outposts set in the lonely vast
To cry "All's well" as Time goes past
And another hour is gone.

But of all the music in God's plan
Of a mystical symphony for man,
I shall remember best of all
Whatever hereafter may befall
Or pass and cease to be,
The hermit's hymn in the solitudes
Of twilight through the mountain woods,
And the field larks crying about our doors
On the soft sweet winds across the moors
At morning by the sea.

Premier Maurice Duplessis said in Quebec last night the government of that province would welcome a proposal to establish a newsprint manufacturing plant on the St. Lawrence River north shore to help overcome the world shortage of newsprint.

Quebec's plan in the event such a mill is built and goes into operation is to provide European customers exclusively.

Royal Visit Asides

The Times of London says the journey by air of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to Canada provides something more than a date for the collector of "records," even though it is the first such royal flight. "It is," says the paper, "a portent of good omen for the British Commonwealth."

The R.C.A.F.'s Coronation trumpet team, the only one in North America, says an Ottawa dispatch, will play during Princess Elizabeth's visit to Quebec City, Ottawa and the R.C.A.F. station at Trenton, Ont. The fanfare trumpets were first used in Canada during the consecration and presentation of the King's Colors to the R.C.A.F. in June, 1950.

A signal from H.M.C.S. Magnificent in the Mediterranean says a recent reception by the Pope is one of the memories being carried home by 284 of the officers and men aboard the aircraft carrier and her accompanying destroyer H.M.C.S. Micmac. The Canadians made a pilgrimage last week to the Holy City and were received by Pope Pius at his summer residence.

Facts and Figures

The Bureau of Statistics in Ottawa says that the world, with an assist by Canada, is producing more bread grains this year than at any time since 1938. Estimated production for 1951 for the world is 215,000,000 short tons, just 3,000,000 below the record of 13 years ago.

Again from Ottawa's Bureau of Statistics comes the report that gold production in Canada continued to decline in July, cutting output in the first seven months of the year to 2,533,129 fine ounces, 30,000 less than the same period last year.

Edwin Leather, a young Canadian-born British Parliament member who is one of Winston Churchill's "fighting young men," says in London that the hope of the West lies in a federation of the U.S., Britain and Canada. Leather has held out for "Atlantic Union" since he first ran for the British Parliament in 1945.

Self-Appraisal A.A.'s First Lesson

By BRIAN LOUGHNAN

A hangover is a far worse hell for an alcoholic than for the once-a-year drinker. The agony of doubt that a drunkard suffers can be worse than the physical horror that he becomes that his brain will become a hammering, whirling cesspool of insanity, and that he will vomit his life over the pavement, the drunk is still unable to stop drinking.

Why can't he quit?

After three long weeks of sobriety following 27 years of wild drinking, a Victorian known to the city's Alcoholics Anonymous group as Jack, the newest member, discovered for himself why an alcoholic can't stop drinking.

Jack did not "just slip" off the wagon. He stood to his full height and plunged off. He landed on his head.

It was then, with the this-is-where-I-came-in feeling that Jack fully realized what Alcoholics Anonymous can mean to a real drunkard.

MISSED MEETING

He missed the weekly meeting. He was ashamed to show his face at the club rooms. After his hangover had receded to a fuzzy, wavering distance he discovered he had only two choices left: to get drunk again, as he had been doing for so many miserable years, or make a phone call.

The phone call saved his life.

Calling his sponsors, the men who had taken him into Alcoholics Anonymous, and telling them what they already knew, that he had been drunk again called for a lot of self-discipline and a great deal of humbleness. It was the turning point in Jack's life.

They read him no lectures. Lecturing and nagging never turned a drunkard from the bottle.

There was no need to remind Jack that he had been a fool, like a man who falls from a ship and then swims away from the life belt thrown to him.

To Jack, the hardest part was admitting he had let them down. And the hardest part of all came at the next meeting he attended, when he had to answer "yes" at roll call.

Everyone else at the meeting said "no" when their names were called, signifying in the A.A. tradition of building character that they had not had a drink of liquor since the last meeting. Jack sweated, gritted his teeth, and said "yes." He [illegible] he uttered the word.

MUST CHOOSE

Wanting to be sober is the key to sobriety. Too many drunks, Jack realized, want to learn how to drink without having a hangover. The real alcoholic, realizing he must choose once and for all between drinking and not drinking, must first learn to admit that it is himself who is wrong, not the other fellow, that he must rid himself of self-pity and resentment after admitting he has them, and that he can still change his pattern of living so that doing without liquor is not a hardship.

There is a saying in A.A. that [illegible] "If you want this program, we'll go to hell for you—if you don't want it, you can go to hell for yourself."

Chicago Tribune Increases Price

CHICAGO, Oct. 5 (AP)—The Chicago Tribune announced yesterday that the price of its week-day editions will be increased to five cents, starting Monday. The Tribune, which now costs four cents, said "the change is made necessary by the higher cost of everything that goes into the making of a newspaper." The Tribune is published by Col. Robert R. McCormick.

Yugoslav Ace Runner Refuses To Go Home

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 5 (AP)—Milan Ilec, 21-year-old Yugoslav athlete, refused to return to his homeland yesterday and asked for asylum in Sweden. Ilec is one of Yugoslavia's best runners and champion of the 3,000-metre race. He had been touring Sweden with a Yugoslav team.

May Die Again After Fall Stops Heart

LONG BEACH, Calif., Oct. 5 (AP)—A man who was lifeless for a quarter of an hour, then revived, was near death again tonight.

Doctors at the Veterans' Administration Hospital said it was doubtful that Melvin F. Hewitt, 28, a navy veteran, could survive. He had not regained consciousness.

Hewitt fell on the sidewalk outside a tavern in El Monte early yesterday. Companions took him to a clinic. Two doctors there said he had been dead about 15 minutes.

They operated, massaged his heart, and in a few moments heart action began again and Hewitt began breathing.

Mission Needs To Replace Three Vessels

Replacement of its fleet of vessels is advocated in an annual report just issued by the Columbia Coast Mission.

Superintendent Rev. Canon D. Greene points out the mission ships are "all well on in years."

Replacement of the mission's three operating vessels would cost approximately $200,000, the superintendent said.

"May I point out that many city parishes these days are spending a like sum on a new church which probably would serve a maximum of 3,000 souls. Our mission touches the lives of more than 10,000 people," Canon Greene reports.

"To spend $200,000 on ships that go to them, inasmuch as they cannot come to the ship, is not extravagant by any means."

The Columbia Coast Mission operates the combined mission hospital ship Columbia, the mission vessels John Antle and Rendezvous, and the St. Mary's Hospital in the Pender Harbor area.

*MRS. IRIS NORTH ...

How do you and your husband save, Mrs. North?

We save something out of everything my husband earns. He has a theory that you should save 10 cents out of every dollar of income!

What do you do with the money?

Buy Canada Savings Bonds.

Why?

Because they're guaranteed by the Dominion Government. The way we figure it out is that if you buy something that costs $100 you want it to be worth $100, and this is definitely the case with Canada Savings Bonds. They are always worth, and can always be cashed at, full value.

What method do you use to purchase the bonds?

We pay so much down at the bank and have the rest deducted from our savings account. The bonds are registered in my name but belong to both of us.

Have you bought Canada Savings Bonds regularly?

Yes. Every issue.

Do you intend to invest in Canada Savings Bonds again this year?

Certainly.

Have you had occasion to use any of the bonds you have bought?

Yes, so that my husband and his brother could buy out a business concern.

What is your basic purpose in saving?

So that when we get older we won't have to work so hard and will be protected against emergencies. Like when our house was badly flooded during the Winnipeg flood of 1950. The house was really damaged. You should have seen it. We had to live elsewhere from May to September. The government and insurance actually looked after most of the repairs, but when we didn't know what help we would get it was a wonderful thing to know that we had money in Canada Savings Bonds that we could use if we had to.

NOW BETTER THAN EVER

Canada Savings Bonds—6th Series—mature in 10 years and 9 months from date of issue and bear ten 3½% coupons. The first coupon covers 1 year and 9 months and matures on August 1st, 1953, subsequent coupons mature August 1st each year thereafter until maturity. If cashed before August 1st, 1953, simple interest is paid at 2% per year calculated monthly. If held to maturity the overall yield is equivalent to 3.21% per annum. The limit for holdings in any one name is $5,000 in the Sixth Series. The bonds are cashable at full face value plus interest at any time at any bank in Canada. They are registered in the owner's name. They are non-assignable and non-transferable.

*Mrs. Barbara Iris North, housewife, lives at 242 Scotia St., Winnipeg. Her husband, Herbert C. North, is a general insurance agent. Both are natives of rural communities in Manitoba. Prior to her marriage in 1940, Mrs. North, the former Iris Campbell of Austin, Man., was a country school teacher. She taught at Austin and Roblin. She is the mother of a girl, Barbara, aged 8. She has a brother working in the Bank of Montreal at Maple Creek, Sask. The residence of Mr. and Mrs. North was badly flooded during the 1950 Winnipeg flood. Mrs. North is one of more than a million Canadians who save regularly with Canada Savings Bonds.

Yanks Lose Valuable Mickey Mantle in Fifth

Dismay is evident in expressions on faces of fans as Mickey Mantle is carried off field after falling to ground while chasing fly ball in fifth inning of yesterday's World Series game. Mantle suffered knee injury and may miss today's game.

This is how Mantle [illegible] Giant hurler Larry Jansen with bunt single in first inning to set up first Yankee run. Jansen (centre in all pictures) fumbles as he tries to field bunt. Whitey Lockman (25), Giant first baseman, watches as Eddie Stanky makes pickup too late with Mantle crossing first. Umpire is Joe Paparella.—AP Wirephotos.

Yanks Knot Series Race, Rap Giant Knuckles 3-1

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Oct. [illegible] The [illegible] Yankees [illegible] World [illegible] today. [illegible] a game apiece.

[illegible] raised an epidemic of [illegible] the other day to win the National League pennant.

The Yanks [illegible] the runaway Giants in an unobtrusive manner. They got adequate five-hit pitching out of Eddie Lopat, their effective southpaw. He was molested most during the game in the seventh when the Giants scored their run and threatened to break the handcuffs before leaving two men stranded.

Offensively, the Yanks won in a way [illegible] considerable head-scratching and goldarning in that place [illegible] reserved for the Ruths and Gehrigs who have passed on.

Their first run in the first inning was actually manufactured out of [illegible] bunts by Mickey Mantle and Phil Rizzuto and a [illegible] blooper to short right by Gil McDougald.

CLIPPER HITLESS

Larry Jansen, the 23-game winner [illegible] who was started by Leo Durocher today [illegible] persuading Joe DiMaggio to [illegible] into a double play, the start of another hitless day for the Yankee Clipper.

For good measure Jansen struck out Yogi Berra to end the [illegible] and appeared to be gaining complete charge when he retired the first two men in the second inning.

But Joe Collins refused to [illegible] before the Giant [illegible] then lifted a [illegible] that just cleared the [illegible] and fell in for a home run and the Yanks were in front 2-0 [illegible].

BLAZING STEAL

[illegible] the seventh at which point Lopat had given up only two singles to Monte Irvin and Al Dark. Only Irvin had reached second and that by a blazing steal which caught Yogi Berra with his plans down.

Irvin as hot a player as ever performed in a World Series led off the seventh with a blistering single through the box. Whitey Lockman went through a long ordeal at the plate but was engrossed enough on the pay-off pitch to strike a single to centre moving Irvin to second.

Willie Mays, a sorely frustrated young man about now, [illegible] good bunt down the third base line [illegible] and [illegible] on a [illegible] from [illegible] throw [illegible].

Lopat [illegible] of [illegible].

Leo [illegible] Lopat [illegible] a long [illegible].

Irvin [illegible] and Wes Westrum [illegible] the Giants [illegible].

Leo thought [illegible] batter once he went into the dugout to protect his brain from the warm [illegible]. Then he decided that Jansen was a nice fellow and all that but he had to have a hitter.

His choice was a vast Negro gentleman named Ray Noble who pronounces it "Nobly" and didn't come close to performing up to his name. After several sweating swings Ray popped feebly to Berra and the Giant fans sat back wan.

George Spencer, an [illegible] righthander, was dispatched to pitch for Jansen. He was real good in the seventh getting McDougald, Berra and Gene Woodling in order.

But in the eighth the men separated themselves from the [illegible]. Brown [illegible] a [illegible] to centre and went to second on [illegible] infield roller. [illegible] drove one [illegible] with a flourish [illegible] Billy Martin was ran [illegible] at [illegible] the box.

[illegible] the most [illegible] Lockman [illegible] and Mays [illegible].

Lopat in conclusion took [illegible] Hartung in tow. He beat the galloping Giant to first base after Hartung had pulled [illegible] out of position with a grounder and took Collins' flip for the final putout.

It's Vic Raschi for the Yanks against Jim Hearn tomorrow at the Polo Grounds. Vic won 21, lost 10, and led the American League in strikeouts with 164 [illegible] past season. Hearn, who won the first game of the Giants-Dodger playoff, had a season's record of 17 and nine.

MANTLE SIDELINED

The Yanks and Giants were even in another particular tonight. The Giants lost the services of Don Mueller, a fine young ballplayer, in the final game of the playoff. Today Mickey Mantle sprained his right knee so badly trying to keep from running into DiMaggio on a fly off Mays' bat in the fifth that he had to be carried off the field on a stretcher. Splints were put on his leg and one of the most promising rookies of the year has seen his last baseball for 1951.

Kids Spark Cougar Win Over Ragged Canucks

VANCOUVER, Oct. [illegible] 1951-52 Pacific Coast Hockey League season were [illegible] with an 8-2 triumph over an extremely ragged and lack-lustre Vancouver team.

A crowd of 4000 at Vancouver Forum greeted the Canucks with boos as they came on the ice at the start of the second and third periods.

Although they had an edge territorially, Canucks were soundly trounced. Their forwards lacked cohesion and their defense was very bad, particularly Murph Chamberlain's personally tutored combination of Wayne Stephenson and Clyde Conway. Missing from the defense were Vic Lofvendahl, a holdout under suspension, Ike Tarala, out with an injury, and George Hendrick, still [illegible] from the East.

[illegible] the play of the [illegible] line which [illegible] completely outclassed the [illegible] when matched against its Vancouver counterpart.

NOTCH 11 POINTS

Held scoreless as the Cougars went down to three exhibition defeats, the kid line [illegible] a total of 11 points, [illegible] Bobby Frampton [illegible]. [illegible] three goals and [illegible] also picked up three [illegible] penalties. Andy Hebenton had two goals and two assists. Bill Abbott scored one and added three assists.

Fred Hildebrand joined the Cougars at Vancouver and although he had not before been [illegible] this year was reunited with Bob Bowness, a linemate at [illegible] last season, on a line centred by Eddie Dorohoy. Jack M[illegible] was moved from [illegible] with pivot Joe Evans and Joe Medynski on the third string.

The Cougar defense stood up well under attack particularly while shorthanded. Leon Bouchard was partnered with rookie Roger Leger and Flori [illegible] teamed with Bernie Strongman except when the Cougars were shorthanded when [illegible] and Leger formed a strong [illegible].

ALERT PERFORMANCE

Jim Shirley [illegible] defense with a steady and [illegible] performance in the nets. He was particularly good on [illegible] plays and neither of the Vancouver goals could be blamed on him.

Cougars made definite arrangements today to [illegible] Nanaimo and they will [illegible] tomorrow. They will stay at home until the opening game at home against Seattle on [illegible] day or until such time as ice is put in Memorial Arena.

Doug Anderson and [illegible] players assigned to the [illegible] yesterday by Montreal Canadiens will arrive in Vancouver on Sunday and go direct to the Nanaimo camp. The other additions are Dewar Thompson, a [illegible] and Duggan M[illegible], a defenceman with Montreal Royals last year.

Petes Crush Combines; Tie Final With 14-3 Win

VANCOUVER, Oct. [illegible] — Peterborough Petes [illegible] Vancouver Combines like [illegible] tanks tonight, crushing [illegible] 3 to tie the [illegible] Canadian lacrosse final at [illegible] games each. Deciding game will be played here tomorrow night.

It was a battle of goal tenders [illegible] Combines [illegible] Peterborough checking. In the last quarter Vancouver [illegible] as Petes streamed [illegible] for seven goals.

It was close for more than half the game. The [illegible] 2-1 after 17 minutes and [illegible] after 30. Then [illegible] third quarter and it was obvious to the crowd of 4000 that the home team had had the course.

Combines blew their tops when they were dragging 10-2 and defenseman Jim Kinna attacked [illegible] from behind after he had scored.

Three Combines went off in one [illegible] fight and one easterner was chased. With the extra [illegible] Petes failed to beat 38-year-old Walt Lee in the Vancouver goal. Over the route Lee saved 27 times in a brilliant performance that was the sole bright spot for Combines.

At the opposite end Moon Wootton stopped 2[illegible] drives and was at his best when Petes' lead was slim.

Petes slowed the game to their style and played some of the best lacrosse seen here this season. They checked hard but [illegible] and Combines were forced to take their shots from far out when they did get a chance to shoot.

Each team drew [illegible] minutes in penalties. When the last quarter [illegible] broke out the fans threw [illegible] and programs onto the floor and a firecracker popped off behind Wootton. Play was delayed 10 minutes while the mess was cleaned up.

TO MEET EARLIER

[illegible] will meet for transportation to Duncan at [illegible] tomorrow instead of 1 p.m. because of the change in the time of the [illegible] second division match with [illegible] Boys at Duncan. The game will start now at 12.30 p.m.

Fleming and Merriman who captured the [illegible] two weeks ago by defeating [illegible] Painter and Bill Mc[illegible] of the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club, will meet Bob Morrison and Gordon Verley of the Uplands Golf Club.

The players will tee off at 1 p.m.

Browning, Northup Will Play

VANCOUVER, Oct. 6 (Saturday) (CP) — The Canadian Lacrosse Association early today O.K.ed use by Vancouver Combines of Archie Browning of Victoria Shamrocks and Jackie Northup of New Westminster Adanacs in the deciding game of the Canadian lacrosse final here tonight.

Combines asked replacements for injured Jim Anderson, Ken Webb and Logie Stewart. Vancouver also bid for Johnny Douglas of Adanacs but the C.L.A. said they would permit use of only two replacements.

Boucher Sights for Top With This Year's Rangers

GUELPH, Ont., Oct. 5 (CP).—The National Hockey League's second division will be overcrowded this year if pre-season predictions count for much.

Managing director Conn Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs has surprisingly picked his Stanley Cup champions to finish the six-month schedule in fourth position, something that hasn't happened to the Leafs in three years. [illegible] on the final play-off rung because that's where Manager Frank Boucher figures his New York Rangers will finish.

The soft-spoken Boucher, who surprised everybody a couple of years ago by calling the N.H.L. finish in order from top to bottom, had two observations to make at this Ranger training camp site:

1. "Rangers will get in the playoffs for sure this time," and

2. "Toronto and Detroit are the strongest clubs in the league but it won't be a two-section race as last year with the Red Wings and Leafs far out in front and the remaining four clubs in the bottom section. They aren't going to run away with the league."

He figures that if anything happens to Ted Lindsay or Gordie Howe of the Wings or Ted Kennedy of the Leafs, the one-two finishers last season "will be in the same class as the rest of the league." He calls these players the backbone of the two clubs and injuries to any will cut them "down to our size."

Rangers did a scuttling job after the 1950-51 campaign with one idea in mind to improve their scoring power. Rangers scored 169 goals last season, lowest in the league and two less than the bottom-place Chicago Black Hawks.

TRADE AND SWAP

Four veterans were traded or farmed out. Tony Leswick went to Detroit for Gave Stewart in a straight player deal and Buddy O'Connor, Pat Egan and Wally Stanowski were sent to Cincinnati, Rangers' farm club in the American Hockey League.

In other deals, Rangers obtained right-winger Wally Hergesheimer of Winnipeg and defenceman Hy. Buller of Montreal from and Steve Kraftcheck, 190 pound Cleveland Barons of the A.H.L. husky from Boston Bruins. They also got Jim Ross, 24-year-old defenseman with Quebec Aces of the Quebec major league last season, who Boucher figures will "do well" with the Blueshirts.

YOUTH MOVEMENT

ment and we'll score a lot more

"We've started a youth movegoals this season than last," Boucher promised. "We dropped cause we couldn't buy a goal, a lot of heart breakers simply bebut the scoring punch is there."

Boucher isn't certain of the 15 players, exclusive of goalkeeper Chuck Rayner, for their season's opening faceoff at Chicago Oct. 14, but the front wall probably will go along these lines:

Crafty Edgar Laprade centre to Eddie Kullman and Reg Sinclair on the big line with Don Raleigh between Eddie Slowinski and Nick Mickoski on the second. The No. 3 combination likely will find Paul Ronty centring [illegible] addition, Rangers have Zellio Toppazini and Jackie MacLeod for use in event of injuries.

Golf—Here's How

By SAM SNEAD
Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

The pitch and stop shot you make with a seven, eight or nine iron. In this shot, you want the ball to arc high up and drop on the green with very little roll.

The feet should be positioned with the heels fairly close together and the left foot angled pretty definitely toward the flag. This stance prevents too much body turn and of course, forces a short backswing with the minimum action in the arms and very little pivot. You take the club back a short distance along the direction line then swing it around and up in a three-quarter swing. Your left arm remains straight, just as in the wood shots, but both feet are on the ground throughout the backswing. There is a slight tendency for the left heel to lift, but not much since there is very little hip pivot.

BIG ISLAND

The crown colony of Cyprus, third largest island in the Mediterranean, has an area of 3,572 square miles.

Holidaying Greco May Sign Here

Although holidaying in Victoria with his wife, the former Evelyn Moore of this city, Dick Greco still has his mind on baseball. Former Tacoma slugger spent two hours with business manager Reg Patterson of Victoria Athletics yesterday and may possibly be in Victoria uniform next season if deal can be arranged. Although he had great season in Class "A" ball at Montgomery, Alabama, Greco expressed keen dislike for hot country and has desire to come back to Coast. He said he would welcome chance to play for Victoria. Greco set several new hitting records, including new home run mark, at Montgomery although joining team late in season. Mrs. Greco gives knowing wink as she examines world series pictures with her husband.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

Thanksgiving Grid Tilts May Mix Up Standings

By The Canadian Press

With eight games scheduled this afternoon and six more Monday, the Thanksgiving holiday week-end will bring Canadian football fans plenty of their favorite fare.

Each of the three leagues that fight it out for the Grey Cup and the Canadian crown — the Big Four, the Ontario and the Western Unions — has four games while the East's college loop gets underway with two games today.

The Big Four clubs enter this week-end of heavy action tightly bunched in the standings. They could emerge pretty well mixed up and Montreal Alouette coach Lou Hayman points to the scheduled clashes as the turning point of the season.

SEEN TURNING POINT

"This week-end could be the turning point for all four teams," Hayman commented yesterday. "The race is so close that any club but Hamilton (league leaders) will be knocked out of the playoffs with a double defeat. As for the Als, we hope to take two from Ottawa and march right into second place."

With Montreal playing a home-and-home set with the Rough Riders, coach Carl Voyles of Hamilton Tiger-Cats will move into Toronto's Varsity stadium today for a clash with the third-place Argonauts. The league-leading Cats play host to Frank Clair's club Monday.

The prairie circuit has four games scheduled with Edmonton Eskimos playing in Regina today and Winnipeg Monday. Currently atop the league by two full games, the Esks could all but sew up first place with a double win.

Last place Calgary could drop completely out of sight if it were to bow twice. Five full games behind league-leading Edmonton, the Stampeders play in Winnipeg today and Regina Monday.

Cowichan Bay Derby Off at Daybreak

The Cowichan Bay Salmon Club's annual Thanksgiving holiday week-end coho derby will start at the popular up-Island fishing grounds this morning at daybreak.

The derby will continue till Monday at 4 p.m. with a $100 prize for the largest fish boated each day and a $215 combination radio phonograph for the biggest catch of the derby.

Lee Halberg, immediate past president of the club and in charge of publicity, stated that the rising barometer during the latter part of the week indicates that the weather will be fair over the week-end.

Those competing in the three-day meet will only be allowed to use artificial lures. The "killer" lure flasher and herring will not be tolerated. There is a strong possibility that this type of lure will be banned by government order in non-open areas like Cowichan Bay.

Halberg announced that patrol boats would be touring the fishing areas throughout the derby to see that the participants obey the regulations.

Fishing at the up-Island grounds has been just fair but is expected to improve, with the weather, for the week-end.

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuters) After Stockman Colin Bell committed suicide, his favorite horse battered himself to death against a post. The horse, Toby, an eight-year-old chestnut, had fretted since returning to Bell's homestead alone.

Railroads Spark Market In Return to High Level

By AP AND CP

With the railroads providing the inspiration, the New York Stock Market yesterday moved back up to its best levels of the year.

The recovery from yesterday's dip wasn't very big it didn't have to be—but it was enough to put the AP average of 60 stocks up 10 cents at $101.20, equal to the year's high set Wednesday.

[illegible] among the leaders didn't run higher than the $1.$2 range, but there were more stocks than usual poking their heads above this ceiling.

Steels and motors joined with the rails in the general upward movement and trading embraced a wide list of stocks not recently found so popular.

The volume came to 2,070,000 shares.

In Toronto, a tremendous final-hour drive today sent the volume of issues traded on the stock exchange to the highest level in the exchange's 17-year history.

More than 2,000,000 shares changed hands during the last 60 minutes to boost the day's turnover to 6,639,000 shares.

Sales marked the second time this week that the exchange piled up a record volume. Wednesday's turnover of 6,478,000 shares [illegible] record set Aug. 27, 1947.

In both cases heavy speculation in western oils formed the bulk of trading.

At Montreal, stock prices continued mixed towards the close on the stock exchange and curb market. Trading was moderate.

Changes ranged to about a point in either direction.

Utilities, steels and beverages mixed plus and minus signs. Papers and industrials continued to ease moderately.

PRICES GAIN

At Vancouver, prices gained and trading was very active on the stock exchange.

In Winnipeg, oats were the weak spot on the grain exchange. Other grain prices closed higher.

There was no information available on export loadings of Canadian wheat.

Markets To Close Two Days

By The Canadian Press

Traders who have been flooding Toronto and Montreal stock exchanges with orders this week face two days of idleness on their own exchanges, while New York stock exchange will be open.

New York resumes Saturday sessions today, the first since April, and ordinarily Toronto and Montreal would have followed suit.

But Monday is a holiday for Canada's Thanksgiving Day, and the Canadian exchanges decided to stay closed one more Saturday to make it an extra long week-end.

Chicago board of trade resumes Saturday trading today. Winnipeg will be open as it has been all summer, but will close Monday.

The United States Thanksgiving holiday comes in late November.

Dollars, Gold Held in U.S. Show Big Drop

OTTAWA, Oct. 5 (CP). Canada's official holdings of United States dollars and gold declined by $180,000,000 in the space of a year, the finance department reported today.

Reserves on Sept. 30 totaled $1,610,000,000, compared with $1,790,000,000 a year ago. The holdings reflect the state of Canada's international financial and economic health.

Since June 30, the last time the department made its quarterly report, the reserves had declined from $1,683,000,000 to $1,669,000,000 on July 31 and $1,562,000,000 on Aug. 31.

The department noted, however, that in August $48,000,000 was required for the retirement of a Canadian National Railways bond issue.

Between Aug. 31 and Sept. 30, the reserves increased by $48,000,000.

DECLARE DIVIDEND

CALGARY, Oct. 4. Following a meeting of the board of directors, Major James R. Lowery, chairman of the board of Home Oil Company Limited, announced that on Dec. 15, 1951, Home Oil will pay a dividend of 25 cents per share. Payment will be made to shareholders of record as of Nov. 15, 1951.

This dividend will amount to $[illegible]. A dividend of 25 cents was paid on June 15.

London Market Inactive, Firm

LONDON, Oct. 5 (Reuters)—Although active interest in the stock exchange today was restrained by the approach of the week-end, there was little deterioration in values. Profit taking on yesterday's sharp rises in Japanese bonds brought a reaction of one to three points to these issues but there was a marked firmness in German Potash loans as buyers switched their attention.

Foreign Exchange

MONTREAL, Oct. 5 (CP).—The American dollar today closed at 5 7/16 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, down 1/32 from Thursday's close. That is, it took $1.05 7/16 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.95¾, down 1/16 from Thursday.

May Use Rinks, Halls To Store Wheat Crop

OTTAWA, Oct. 5 (CP).—Prairie wheat may be stored in skating rinks next winter.

Huge supplies of grains may even clog community halls and abandoned factories—anything that appears suitable for grain storage may be used.

These were the prospects today as Trade Minister Howe, attempting to overcome a critical grain storage shortage, empowered the board of grain commissioners to license any kind of building for warehousing—providing it is sturdy enough to hold grain.

He also empowered the three-man board to delay taking inventory on grain stocks at terminal points in an effort to speed up movement of grain to market.

"In the face of the prevailing heavy export demand," Mr. Howe said in a statement, "it is vital to the interests of all Canada that the present large stocks of Canadian grain—particularly millable grades of wheat—be put into export position without undue delay."

The powers granted the board were issued through an order-in-council under the government's Emergency Powers Act. This was the same legislation used a few months ago to appoint a Federal transport controller to untangle a Great Lakes shipping tie-up and help speed grain overseas.

DIVIDEND NOTICE

SIDNEY ROOFING & PAPER CO., LTD.

Notice is hereby given that the regular Quarterly Dividend of 22½ cents per share will be paid November 1st to all Shareholders of Class "A" Stock on record as of the 15th of October, 1951.

Gold, Dollar Leak Not Yet Alarming

OTTAWA, Oct. 5 (CP).—A "leak" became evident today in Canada's official storehouse of gold and United States dollars. But it was nothing compared to the big puncture in the United Kingdom.

Canada's reserves, which are about one-half the size of those in Britain, declined $73,000,000 during a three-month period. In [illegible]

The relatively-favorable position in Canada was maintained apparently by a steady flow of new capital into this country, softening the blow of a growing trade deficit.

Finance Minister Abbott announced the official holdings as $1,610,000,000 on Sept. 30, down from $1,683,000,000 on June 30.

This was about $180,000,000 below the record $1,789,600,000 on Sept. 30 last year, but more than three times the size of the $500,000,000 stockpile at the end of 1947, when Canada considered herself in the midst of a financial crisis.

Officials were cautious about assessing the seriousness of the drop. They said, however:

1. Canada's international financial position was "sound." This was reflected in the "very small" drop in reserves.

2. The trade deficit—$337,000,000 in the first eight months of 1951—would have "hurt the reserves badly," but it was apparently countered by a healthy flow of capital into Canada.

3. As long as the reserves remained buoyant there would be no need for controls against imports, even though the size of these imports were causing the trade deficit to grow.

There was one other suggestion made. That the size of Canada's reserves—compared with those at the end of 1947—should make it possible for Canada to extend her international commitments and make extra loans without impairing her own financial position.

GRANDPA WOULDN'T HAVE BELIEVED IT!..

Take Grandpa into one of the modern mines or plants of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company. Show him the big machines, the fine tools and the safer, healthier working conditions. Tell him about the shorter hours, the higher wages and vacation with pay. He just wouldn't believe it.

Those who work for Cominco have other benefits Grandpa never even dreamed of. Apprenticeships for young men, housing loans for married couples, pensions for the old timers, life insurance and assisted hospital and medical protection for all, and many other plans.

Profits made all these advances possible. The constant "plowing back" of these profits* makes them secure. "Yes, if it weren't for 'Company Profits', we could very easily be back in Grandpa's day."

* $63,000,000 from Company profits is now being spent on new projects. The completion of these projects will mean the addition of 800 permanent jobs.

The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company is the largest producer of lead and zinc in the world and Canada's leading producer of chemical fertilizers.

Knibbs in Fraud Earlier, Crown Asserts in Court

Clifford W. Knibbs, Victoria contractor being tried in Assize Court for fraud, has had two previous convictions on the prairies for similar offences, the Crown counsel asserted yesterday.

Knibbs is charged with obtaining by false pretenses $735 from [illegible] in connection with repairs to a home owned by her at 2322 Shakespeare Street.

Knibbs is alleged to have obtained the $735 as a one-third down payment on a $2,273 job to move the house and replace the foundations by claiming it was to be condemned.

Defence counsel Ronald Grant said Knibbs obtained the money believing he would have to do the major job by order of the city building inspector. Later, the building inspector told Knibbs the house would not stand the major work and issued a permit for $150 [illegible] the place habitable.

Mrs. Annie Bowden, a tiny, grey-haired woman, agent for Miss Hall, told Mr. Grant during her cross-examination that he was "mithering" her.

"What does that mean, Mrs. Bowden?" smiled Mr. Grant.

"You're upsetting my equilibrium," answered the little woman.

The case will continue Tuesday with counsels' addresses to the jury.

I.W.A. Clears Two City Men Of Red Charge

Two Victoria men have been cleared of any connections with the Communist infiltration of the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) in 1948.

Jack Peace and Roy Simmons were readmitted to the union by the annual convention in Denver, Colo. Delegates found that the two were not connected with Harold Pritchett and other alleged Communists during the I.W.A. split three years ago.

However, 13 other former I.W.A. members, including Pritchett, Nigel Morgan, B.C. Labor Progressive Party head, and A. Parkin, former editor of the I.W.A. publication Lumber Worker, have been barred forever from union membership.

Signs Will Inform City Motorists Of Traffic Light Synchronization

Moth Imbedded in Ear Of Sailor During Blow

[illegible] the power of a [illegible]

Men aboard the Royal Mail Lines [illegible] can vouch for this. The [illegible] combination cargo-passenger ship was in Kingston Harbor, Jamaica, Aug. 17 when a vicious, 125-mile-an-hour wind [illegible] the entire area.

The ship reached Ogden Point docks last night and her men say they'll never forget the experience.

Ship's carpenter William Cunningham was the only "casualty." He was making his way across the main deck as the wind reached its peak. There was a [illegible] in his right ear.

Four days later when the ship was at Panama, an American doctor conducted a minor operation and removed the cause of the ear trouble, a small moth. So great was the force of the wind it had driven the small insect far into the ear. The ear [illegible] saved the moth.

It was Mr. Cunningham's third hurricane experience. He was aboard the same company's ship Loch Monar when she was driven on to a coral reef in the Caribbean [illegible] in 1948 and spent 12 days there before being towed away. A [illegible] the same [illegible] experienced his first hurricane also in the West Indies [illegible]

CAT DESERTS

[illegible] the Loch Ryan's [illegible] the mascot won't forget that hurricane of last August either. Several weeks before the ship reached the big Jamaica port she gave birth to six kittens.

[illegible] to stay aboard during the big blow but as soon as the ship docked she abandoned ship and was never seen by the crew again.

Said Quartermaster William Day: "The dock we were to have tied up to was totally destroyed, along with many others in the area."

"The wind started up about 9 that night and by 11 it was at its worst. It was about then [illegible] our accident. Another [illegible] the Jamaican Pro[illegible] broke her anchor lines [illegible] pushed into us. She crashed into our bow and caused considerable damage to our starboard side."

"We unloaded four 75-ton rail ways [illegible] at Kingston and set sail for the Panama. On the way we made a temporary cement patch over the hole in our bow. We'd taken quite a bit of water."

Said Bos'n J. Rossiter: "If we'd been out in the open we might not have been here today."

"The windblown spray over that harbor was so thick that visibility was reduced to nil."

He praised the ship's commanding officer, Capt. R. N. Fletcher, for "skilful handling" of the vessel during the storm.

Five large freighters went aground in the hurricane.

Funeral Services Set For Mrs. A. M. Harrison

Funeral service will be held at 3 p.m. today for Mrs. Amy Harrison, 54, a native of Saanich.

She died suddenly at her home, 815 Pembroke Street, Oct. 3. She had resided in Saanich and Victoria all her life.

BREAK WINDOWS

Burglars who broke a window to gain entry to a building at Victoria West Bowling Green last night broke an additional four windows by throwing articles through the glass, police reported. Nothing of value was stolen.

Neglect Found By Jury

A verdict of culpable neglect was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury against Sydney Pegg, 27, of 46 Sims Avenue, in connection with the death of Mrs. Gladys Frew, 48, Sept. 29.

Pegg faces a charge of manslaughter laid by Saanich police. Mrs. Frew, 520 Walter Street, was a passenger in Pegg's car which crashed into a pole on Gorge Road last Saturday.

The inquest was held yesterday at McCall's Funeral Parlors.

Evidence disclosed that Pegg drove Mrs. Frew and her husband home from a downtown dance. The deceased woman was lying in the back seat and Mr. Frew sitting beside the driver.

Pegg stated in evidence that [illegible] the car came to a curve Mr. Frew fell across him and knocked his right hand off the wheel.

Mr. Frew admitted that he had had quite a few drinks.

Pegg said he put on the brakes and the car went out of control and left the road on the wrong side missing one pole and hitting the second on the left front door post of the car.

The driver said he had not been drinking and that the speed of the car was 30 miles per hour.

The jury asked to be taken to the scene of the accident before returning a verdict. They recommended that a sign at Gorge and Harriet Roads was not adequate warning of the dangerous curve.

Mrs. Frew died at the Jubilee Hospital Oct. 3.

Cars Collide, One Injured

Robert Rankin, 67, 612 Bay Street, was taken to hospital yesterday afternoon suffering from a lacerated head, bruises and shock sustained when his car was in collision with another car at Blanshard and Bay Streets.

The second car was driven by Herbert J. Handyside, 913 Darwin Road, police reported.

Wismer Repeats Stand

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer has told swindle victim W. A. Scott that he is "amazed" by his attitude relating to an investigation of activities of Clyde Gillies.

Scott, defrauded of $9,000 by Giles, was unsatisfied with the investigation, and has suggested a meeting before the city police commission of himself and an "unprejudiced committee to carry out an investigation without fear or favor."

In a statement last night the attorney-general said:

"I pointed out that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police had conducted an investigation through one of their most experienced officers, and could find no evidence to justify the conclusion that anyone else was involved and no evidence which would justify the laying of an information against anyone."

"This did not in any way imply that Mr. Scott or the Police Commission was prevented from pursuing the investigation," Mr. Wismer said.

"I would be only too happy to see that prosecution is launched if sufficient evidence is brought to light," he added.

Mr. Wismer further emphasized that he had made no personal or final decision in the matter.

"I have not stated that no further charges can be laid, but only that as far as I know there is no evidence to support the same."

Picket Lines Will Remain, Say Strikers

A meeting of Boilermakers Local 238 (T.L.C.) executive with management of Victoria Machinery Depot and Yarrows Ltd. failed to yield harmony for a settlement yesterday.

At the same time about half the non-striking workers returned to jobs at V.M.D. and another 184 men at Yarrows. The numbers increased substantially from Thursday.

The Boilermakers meanwhile have voted to retain their picket line until they win their 50-cent hourly boost demand. The companies have termed as a final offer a 25-cent hourly boost.

Basic pay for the Boilermakers is $1.60 hourly.

The striking union will hold a membership meeting tomorrow at 2 p.m. in their Esquimalt Road hall.

DUNCAN, Oct. 5—A verdict of culpable homicide was returned by a coroners' jury inquiring into the stabbing death of Raymond Boyce, who died of his wounds in King's Daughters' Hospital Sept. 27, seven days after receiving the fatal wound.

Commissionaires to Fill Security Guard Positions

Civilian security guards at H.M.C.S. Dockyard will be replaced by men from the Canadian Corps of Commissionaires as vacancies occur, R. R. Spencer, superintendent of the dockyard, announced in a circular yesterday.

"On a vacancy occurring on complement of civilian guards due to resignation, voluntary transfer, promotion by competition, or release at the age of 65, the vacancy thus caused will be filled by a commissionaire," he said.

About 60 veterans are directly affected by the government order in Victoria, Capt. Victor Hadlund, secretary of the commissionaires, said 22 members of the unit are already working as security guards inside the dockyard.

They took over from the R.C.M.P. in May, 1949, and were sworn in as special constables with the power of arrest.

ALL VETERANS

Capt. Hadlund said that all members of the organization are veterans whose background has been thoroughly checked.

The circular also stated that when a vacancy occurs among the 60 civil service guards an equivalent position in another branch will be offered to the man next in line for the job.

"It is to be distinctly understood that no member of the present civilian guard will be removed or lose his present employment in order that a member of the Corps of Commissionaires may be employed," Capt. Spencer said.

Four Hurt In Collision

PARKSVILLE, Oct. 5—One person was taken to hospital and three other persons slightly injured in a head-on crash of a Victoria car and a Parksville taxi during a driving rainstorm here today.

Driver of the Victoria car was Mrs. Laura Doble, 302 Moss Street. She and her passenger Miss Betty Lapp of Courtenay escaped injury.

Firemen Check City Homes To Warn Owners of Danger

On the eve of fire prevention week in Victoria Fire Chief Robert Brindle yesterday reviewed records compiled by firemen who have personally inspected 2,800 homes in the city.

He said the home inspection is still being carried out in an effort to make Victorians fire-conscious.

Chief Brindle said piles of lumber around homes, rubbish in basements, oil burners installed without permits and overloaded electrical outlets were the main faults discovered during the inspections.

He also said that a considerable number of old sheds that are considered fire hazards will have to be torn down.

Council Bills Wrong Place For Fire Cost

DUNCAN, Oct. 5—The department of lands and forests has disclaimed responsibility for the vagaries of the weather.

When the provincial forest service recently enforced a woods closure but permitted hunters to enter the woods a fire was started allegedly by hunters in the Sahtlam district.

At the last meeting of the council of North Cowichan Municipality decision was made to bill the department of lands and forests for the cost of fighting the fire.

In a letter from the department read to council last night the deputy minister said "The development of the weather is not the responsibility of the department of lands and forests."

Reeve A. E. Beasley remarked "We billed the wrong department, I guess. In future we had better send the bills for fighting forest fires to the weather man."

School Children Will See Royalty

COURTENAY, Oct. 5.—One-half of the Grades IV-VIII youngsters in District 71 will journey to Nanaimo by train on Oct. 29 to see Princess Elizabeth and her husband.

Reduction in the fare originally proposed by the E. & N. has resulted in a decision to send the youngsters by train rather than by school bus. Five hundred will make the trip.

Bible Society's Work Jeopardized Unless Money Raised to Carry On

Work of the greatest publishing firm in the world, the British and Foreign Bible Society, is in jeopardy unless funds can be raised.

This was the chief message brought from England by Secretary-General Rev. A. H. Wilkinson from headquarters in London.

Mr. Wilkinson, accompanied by his wife, addressed a dinner meeting of the Victoria Society branch at Terry's last night.

"The Bible Society in Canada has undertaken to raise $320,000 by the year 1954," said Mr. Wilkinson.

"Elsewhere in the world we hope to raise subscriptions by 25 per cent. We don't want to raise the price of the Bible and that is why we are launching the appeal."

Mr. Wilkinson said that when the Bible Society was formed in 1804 the Scriptures were translated into 72 languages.

"Today the Bible is translated into 1,084 languages. Each year about six new languages are added, which tremendously increases our printing and publishing costs."

The secretary added that the Bible society, unlike other publishing firms, went out to make a deliberate loss.

"We have achieved this aim magnificently," he added only, "for each year we chalk up a loss of about 50 per cent."

Mr. Wilkinson, who later in the evening addressed [illegible] interdenomination [illegible] Baptist Church, had [illegible] interesting figures to give.

For example, the [illegible] Society is the parent [illegible] other Bible [illegible] the world [illegible] does 75 per cent [illegible] and contributes [illegible] per cent of the Bibles.

BIG CIRCULATION

The year the society was founded world circulation was about 20,000 Bibles. Now [illegible] 27,000,000 copies yearly.

Said Mr. Wilkinson: "This means the Bible's circulation has multiplied one thousand times in 150 years."

Since 1804 600,000,000 copies of the Bible have been printed.

Mr. Wilkinson said that policy of the society in England is to present each school graduate with a New Testament free, each university student with the entire Bible.

The secretary-general leaves for Vancouver today to begin the journey back to England.

Utilities Commission Confirms Increase

The Public Utilities Commission yesterday confirmed interim electricity rate increases granted the B.C. Electric in Victoria and Vancouver last March and August.

The increases, which now become incorporated permanently into the general rate structure, average 12 per cent for domestic consumers and 15 per cent for commercial and industrial consumers.

It is understood that some 33,000 domestic consumers and 4,900 commercial and industrial consumers are affected in the Victoria area. The increase in domestic rates amounts to some 1.7 cents per day.

NO JUSTIFICATION

As a result of public hearings in Victoria, Sept. 17, and Vancouver Sept. 24 and 25, the commission ruled that "there is no justification for interference" by it with the general increases in electric rates filed by the company earlier in the year.

"The companies have a right to earn a fair and reasonable return on the value of their property after paying all other proper expenses," the comission stated.

"We think it reasonable that when anyone asks the commission to order the cancellation of any particular rate increase he should be prepared to suggest where else the revenue ought to be obtained," it was stated.

It was explained that the company proposed various rate increases in certain services as the best way of obtaining an increase in over-all revenues.

NECESSARY ADJUSTMENTS

"If there is undue discrimination or preference as between different classes of users, the commission many require the company to make any necessary rate adjustments," it was explained. "Of course if a justifiable increase in over-all revenue cannot be obtained from one source it will have to be obtained from another."

"We find that the particular rate increases made are within reasonable limits of fairness as between each class of user and the remaining classes, and are not unduly preferential or discriminatory," the commission ruled.

The commission stated it understood the company is considering applying for cancellation of the increases in flat rates for employees.

"This application, if made, will be dealt with as a special case," it was stated.

Beauty and You

By MARION MATTHEWS

A change is always welcome and if you are in the habit of shampooing your own hair, try to vary the routine occasionally. If you do this, you'll find that washing your hair needn't be a tiresome chore. For example, have you ever used a brush to get your hair clean, while sham- [illegible] ally tried a home or prepared hair rinse?

Using a small brush to work up a good lather after hair is wet is a trick I like personally and chances are once you have tried it you won't feel you've really washed your hair unless you've performed this step also. Begin by brushing your hair to loosen and remove dandruff flakes. Then wet your hair and apply shampoo. Next step is to use your small brush and rub the scalp with it until the lather begins to foam. Then bring the brush down the length of hair to clean that strand. Divide the hair into sections as you progress until you have done a thorough job.

You can use this method of brushing the scalp and hair with a small brush when you use a [illegible] your hair is still dry from summer activities outdoors, it is a good time to try one of these.

Creme shampoos are fun to try on occasion also. You'll find they leave hair very easy to manage.

Another shampoo step you might try is a creme rinse. After your hair has been washed, use a mixture made of one tablespoon of creme rinse and a cup of warm water. Pour over the hair while it is still wet and leave on for about five minutes. Massage scalp and hair and rinse with clear water.

Don't be afraid that frequent shampooing will harm your hair. On the contrary, the once-a-week hair wash is recommended by experts whether the hair is dry, normal or oily. The stimulating effects of brushing and correctly shampooing can be helpful in correcting conditions that may be annoying you.

For control of other conditions such as dandruff, there are special lotions and for hair that needs conditioning before or after a permanent the creme shampoo or creme rinse are just right.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"THE FIRST BLOW IS HALF THE BATTLE"

In the second act of "She Stoops to Conquer," a comedy still playing on current stages after almost two hundred years, Oliver Goldsmith employed this saying, but known as metaphor, just as we do today. The dialogue is on the question of what dresses to wear for traveling. In reply to the suggestion for a change of costume, Goldsmith has his character say: "The first blow is half the battle. I intend opening a campaign with the white and gold."

A strange source this is, to be credited with the origin of an expression whose significance is the importance of preparedness, and whose allusion is to battle. Yet we seek in vain for a start in a literal military context.

That is not to say that the idea expressed by the metaphor in these exact words originated with Oliver Goldsmith. Over a century before him George Herbert, the English poet and divine whose hobby was old proverbs and colloquial sayings, listed in the collection published in 1640, "The first blow is as much as two." How much earlier it was in English speech nobody knows. And since Herbert's special interest was "outlandish" or foreign sayings, its home ground may have been a distant one.

Another old saying about the first blow which is interesting, though it never achieved popularity beyond some usage in English literature, is Bacon's declaration that "The second blow makes the fray." Three decades after Bacon, John Donne, poet and clergyman, made out of this the saying "The first blow makes the wrong, but the second makes the fray." English writers kept this alive, to develop into the more recent form: "It takes two blows to make a battle."

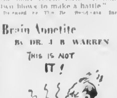
Brain Appetite

By DR. J. B. WARREN



If a rubber ball is pushed down into the stomach the walls of the stomach try to get rid of it and push it downward. With these movements of the stomach walls a flow of digestive juice containing hydrochloric acid and pepsin immediately begins to flow. However, when food is eaten, food that looks nice, smells nice and tastes nice, not only does the stomach digestive juice increase in amount but the strength of the hydrochloric acid and the pepsin increases also. This stimulation of the taste is called brain appetite.

Probe Hinted On Scalping

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (INS)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick was reported tonight to be considering an investigation of alleged wholesale World Series ticket scalping.

Speculators were asking and reportedly getting as high as $75 and $100 for a pair of tickets to the Polo Grounds, where the next three games will be played.

Legitimate brokers said, meanwhile, that they were unable to get normal allotments and have no ducats on hand.

St. Paul's Congregation Will Mark Sixtieth Anniversary on October 14

On Oct. 14 the congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Victoria West, will celebrate the 60th anniversary of the opening of that church.

Although Sept. 20, 1891, is the date of the opening of the church, the work of the founder and first minister, Dr. MacRae, dates back to 1885 when he started the work of his ministry in [illegible]

The area of his ministry embraced Victoria West, Cedar Hill, Craigflower, Esquimalt, Metchosin and Sooke.

The work of the clergyman has always been extremely strenuous but when one contemplates the area of Dr. MacRae's parish, and the means of transportation in the Eighties of the last century one is inclined to believe that there were giants in the land.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

BUILDING COMMITTEE

Realizing the need for a church in the Victoria West district a building committee was formed consisting of Dr. MacRae, Robert Semple and D. J. McDonald and on May 21, 1891, this committee met at the office of Mr. Soule the architect and authorized him to let the contract for the new church. The present building with certain additions—is the result of the plans of the architect and the building committee.

It should be mentioned that the tower at the northwest corner was not included in the original contract as the committee did not think it could meet the cost of this addition. However the generosity of an anonymous donor enabled the committee to include the tower in the original tender.

CORNERSTONE LAID

On May 3[illegible], 1891, The Honorable John Robson, Premier of British Columbia, laid the cornerstone of the church in a simple but impressive ceremony. Assisting him were Dr. MacRae, Rev. P. F. McLeod and Rev. Dr. Campbell. The ceremony was witnessed by many visitors and the local churches were represented by Bishop Cridge, Rev. Coverdale Watson, Rev. Rugg and Rev. Barber.

It is fitting to add a few remarks on the site of St. [illegible]

Many Victorians [illegible] the magnificent site of the Anglican Cathedral on [illegible] Hill and many even now [illegible] that it was impossible to place the present cathedral [illegible] In the opinion of [illegible] the site of St. Paul's [illegible] that of the old cathedral.

MAGNIFICENT VIEW

From the [illegible] there is a magnificent view of the [illegible] Straits with the snow [illegible] in the background and the whole of [illegible] below. The [illegible] chose wisely and [illegible] of the builders [illegible] on Sept. 20, 1891 [illegible] capable of seating a congregation of [illegible] was dedicated to the glory of God.

On [illegible] the building was [illegible] and on [illegible] Sept. 20 was [illegible] impressive service.

Rev. Alexander Young of Wellington, B.C. [illegible] the dedicatory service, taking his text from Isaiah 56: [illegible] "And my house shall be a house of prayer for all people." He invoked the blessing of God on the new edifice with its congregation.

The afternoon service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Rugg of Calvary Baptist Church.

MEETING PLACE

From that time to the present the church has served as the meeting place of Presbyterians of Victoria West and Esquimalt.
